Farm Income Boost Pledged By Demo Team

Kennedy, Johnson Hit GOP, Nixon

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—The Democratic political team of Kennedy and Johnson made its first public appearance of the campaign Sunday and gave the American farmer a firm promise of more money in his pocketbook.

Sens. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts and Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas took turns with pledges—and in accusing the Republicans of bringing the farmers to what the former called disaster and the latter called a mess. Each said Republican nominee Richard M. Nixon must share in the responsibilities.

The two came to Des Moines with addresses climaxing a two-day rally of farmers from 13 Midwestern states. Most of these states have a long tradition of going Republican.

Backing up the Democratic platform, Kennedy listed as his first basic objective for farmers a positive policy to manage supplies of farm commodities and "raise farm prices and incomes to parity levels."

25% Above Present Levels

He didn't translate that into cash. But what this would mean would be boosting farm income approximately 25 per cent above present levels, or nearly three billion dollars a year.

The Democratic presidential nominee said the job can be done and "I pledge every effort of mind and heart to do it." Kennedy said he would rather be accused of breaking precedents than promises.

Swinging directly at Nixon, Kennedy said that when it comes to agriculture "disaster has been his experience and Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson has been his teacher."

The Democratic farm program wasn't spelled out in detail by either man. Specifics were left until later. But the party platform not only hopes of higher earnings for farmers, but also says that controls and more government participation in farm affairs will be needed.

Kennedy and Johnson got a big, roaring reception on arrival. Johnson, who flew in from Washington an hour ahead of his running mate, found perhaps 2,000 people at the airport, told them that he wanted to "look you in the eye and shake your hand," pulled off his coat and did.

Crowd Estimated At 5,000

Kennedy came in by air from the Strategic Air Command base at Omaha, Neb. By the time his private plane sat down, police estimated the crowd at 5,000. They couldn't hold it back.

Men and women and youngsters surged out on to the landing apron shrieking, waving a forest of banners.

At the Fort Des Moines Hotel there was another mob scene, with the candidates fighting their way through the entry and crowded lobby.

Sens. Stuart Symington of Missouri, who once had ideas about the presidency, accompanied Kennedy to Des Moines, along with Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, chairman of the Democratic National Committee.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota turned up. So did Govs. Orville L. Freeman of Minnesota and George Docking of Kansas and Sen. Estes Keafauver of Tennessee.

Satellite Dogs "Catapulted" Back To Earth

LONDON (AP) — Pravda said Monday the space dogs brought back from orbit were catapulted to earth in a special container when the satellite that took them 18 times around the earth came down to a low level.

The Soviet Communist party newspaper said the landing of the space ship itself took place on a level meadow surrounded by fields.

"First witnesses of this historic event were collective farm workers who were working nearby," Radio Moscow quoted Pravda as saying.

The dogs, Belka and Strelka, along with other smaller animals, insects and plants, were the first living creatures ever to return from orbit around the earth.

The Soviet Union announced Saturday they had been returned and heralded the achievement as another giant step toward putting a man in space.

Pravda said one of its correspondents was given the following information at the U.S.S.R. Academy of Sciences:

"When the space ship satellite had come down to a low height, the container in which the animals were located was separated from it by catapulting.

"This was done to guarantee the safe landing of the four-footed cosmic travelers.

"The space ship satellite landed undamaged and whole, like the container with the experimental animals."

Pravda did not disclose the geographic position of the space landing.

The Soviets previously had reported that the space ship landed within seven miles of its designated target spot.

ORAN, Algeria (AP) — Nationalist terrorists tossed grenades into four bars Saturday night, wounding 21 persons. Twelve of the victims were hospitalized. It was the first serious terrorist activity here for several months.

Byrd Silent On Endorsing Kennedy-Johnson Ticket

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.) remained uncommitted to the Democratic presidential ticket Sunday despite personal appeals by the candidates. Sens. John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson.

Kennedy, the presidential nominee and Johnson, his running mate, called on Byrd recently to urge him to come out for them.

Byrd told a reporter that despite an hour's discussion this position remains the same—he has no comment on the ticket.

In the Senate Thursday, Byrd assailed the Democratic program pledge to repeal the Taft-Hartley Act's provision authorizing state right-to-work laws. He said this was a promise labor union leaders "will allow no one to forget" if Kennedy is elected.

Right-to-work laws, as their sponsors call them, are in force

Two Injured As Bomb Rips Negro Home

Chattanooga Blast 5th Of Month With Racial Overtones

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—Stealthy bombers struck a Negro neighborhood at the very foot of famed Lookout Mountain early Sunday, sending two youngsters who were cut by flying glass to a hospital.

The blast, shattering the pre-dawn quiet of a Sunday morning, was the fifth explosion with racial overtones here this month and the fourth in 10 days. It caused by far the worst damage.

The explosion, probably dynamite, was set off beneath the porch of a five-room frame duplex apartment, occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Reid and their four young children. It was just outside a bedroom where the parents and David, 7 months old, were asleep.

Apartment Shattered

The Reid apartment was turned into a mass of wood splinters and broken glass, and the porch was disintegrated.

David, sleeping near the window, was showered by splintered glass and Sandra Lennise, 3, sleeping with her brother and sister in a rear bedroom, was cut by flying glass. The other two youngsters, Thomas Jr., 4, and Sharon Lynn, 2, escaped injury along with the parents. All the children, after a trip to Children's Hospital, were taken across town to stay with relatives.

The neighborhood has been all Negro for years, but white residents live three blocks away.

Grab Children, Call Police

"We both woke up and started feeling for the children," Mrs. Reid said. "There was smoke and fumes everywhere and the children were all crying and hollering. We didn't run outside or anything; we just grabbed the children, held them and called the police."

Asked if he knew of a possible motive, Reid said, "All I know is whoever did this is lowlife trash."

Reid, 24, a laboratory assistant for a chemical firm, has lived with his family in the apartment for the past four years; the other side of the building, also five rooms, has been occupied for the past 10 years by the owners, Mr. and Mrs. John James. James is retired; Mrs. James is a cashier for the Chattanooga Housing Authority.

200 Flee Calif. Forest Fires

FORESTHILL, Calif. (UPI) — Two raging forest fires burned out of control in the high Sierra Sunday, whipping through three small communities, destroying 19,000 acres of timber and forcing flight of some 200 persons.

In addition to other communities, with a total of 2,300 persons were put on removal alert in the event wind changes brought increased danger to the settlements. One of the fires burned all three power lines into Reno, Nev. and left that city without power "indefinitely."

The blazes, about 65 miles apart, were located on historic Donner Ridge and in the Foresthill area of Placer and El Dorado counties. The Foresthill blaze was the larger of the two, consuming 15,000 acres of timberland in less than 24 hours.

Phouma Foes Halt Advance On Capital

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Prince Souvanna Phouma, new premier of Laos, said Sunday counterrevolutionary forces under Gen. Phoumi Nosavan had stopped their advance on this administrative capital.

The announcement indicated a lessening of tensions in the crisis that has split this tiny country since neutralist rebels seized power here two weeks ago.

The prince reported only Saturday that troops headed by Phoumi defense minister in the ousted pro-Western regime of Premier Tiao Somsanith, were moving on Vientiane.

In his latest statement, Souvanna Phouma said he is continuing peace-making negotiations with Gen. Phoumi.

Soviets Charge U.S. Aggression; Ask U.N. Action

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union called Sunday for the United Nations to take up "the threat to the general peace created by the aggressive action of the United States against the Soviet Union."

A letter signed by Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko asked that the topic be put on the agenda of the U.N. General Assembly opening Sept. 20. The letter, sent to U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld, was dated Aug. 20.

Accusing the United States of ignoring the "principles and aims of the United Nations," the communication emphasized what it called U.S. aggressive actions through intelligence flights over Soviet territory.

The letter asked that "the question of the menace to general peace created by the aggressive actions of the U.S.A. against the Soviet Union should be included on the agenda of the coming session of the General Assembly."

Accompanying the letter was a note of explanation which accused the United States of ignoring United Nations principles and "continuing its policy regarding the intrusion of U.S. military aircraft into the air space of the Soviet Union."

The note said aircraft intrusions across Soviet frontiers were direct acts of aggression.

"It also contains data on the flight of the Lockheed U2 military aircraft on May 1 and on the flight July 1 over the Barents Sea near the Kola Peninsula of the U.S. RB47 military bomber," the broadcast said, adding that the new note expressed hope "the U.N. General Assembly will consider seriously the present situation and take appropriate measures."

Late in May, the Security Council rejected a Soviet resolution condemning the United States as an aggressor and embargoing any future spy flights. This was not long after the May U2 incident, for which pilot Francis Gary Powers was sentenced Friday in Moscow.

On July 26, the Council struck down another Soviet attempt to brand the United States an aggressor in connection with the RB-47.

Seven Youths Killed When Car Hits Tree

SOUTH HERO, Vt. (AP) — Seven youths who grew up together and were inseparable chums in life perished together Sunday in the screaming crash of an automobile.

Their car slammed sideways into a huge roadside maple tree after skidding some 500 feet along Rt. 2 as the seven sped home at 3 a.m. after an evening of fun.

All seven were tossed from the six-year-old, two-door sedan when it hit the tree and pivoted around it. The oldest boy was 20, the youngest 18.

Six were pronounced dead at the scene. The seventh died minutes after he was taken to Mary Fletcher Hospital, Burlington, about 10 miles away.

News of the tragic deaths cast a pall of gloom in Winoski, Vt., where all seven were born, went to school together, belonged to the same clubs and chummed around together.

All seven may continue to be together in death.

Arrangements were under way to have their bodies lie in wake in the auditorium of Winoski High School, their alma mater, and to be buried after a joint Catholic solemn requiem Mass Wednesday.

Mayor Bernard L. Sumner said, "Winoski is a city of only 7,062 persons. Everybody knew everybody else. All seven boys were well-known in town. We all know their families. This saddens everyone."

"Those boys were a wonderful group. They have never been in trouble. They expended their energies mostly in athletics and were prominent members of the city-sponsored teen-age club."

Winoski is in the northwest corner of Vermont, only 50 miles from the Canadian border and seven miles across Lake Champlain from Port Henry, N.Y.

State Police Lt. A. E. Alexander said the boys had indicated Saturday night they were going in the one car to Rouses Point, N.Y., about 40 miles to the north. He said they were en route home in the early morning hours when their car skidded out of control in the Lake Champlain town of South Hero when they were barely half a dozen miles from home.

Maurice P. Soutiere, 19, owner of the car, was still alive when help arrived, but he died moments later in the hospital.

The other victims were: Edward J. Foley and Ronald R. Rogers, both 20; James D. Daigle, 18; and Earle L. Decarreau, Norman E. Paquette and William L. Landino, all 19.

Kennedy Sees SAC In Action

OMAHA (AP) — The Strategic Air Command gave Sen. John F. Kennedy a capsule view of its operations Sunday before the Democratic presidential candidate flew to Des Moines for a farm conference.

Gen. Thomas S. Powers, SAC chief, and Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, Air Force vice chief of staff, led the Massachusetts senator into the underground command post at SAC headquarters.

Kennedy was given a demonstration of the famous "red telephone" by which SAC can alert its global atomic bomber and missile force. From the command balcony of the war room, he heard a special briefing.

Then the generals took the senator to the flight line at Offutt Air Force Base, where SAC headquarters is located. A klaxon squawked and alert crews, which man Offutt's big jet tankers, scrambled. The planes did not take off, however.

Powers already has let it be known he doesn't think much of his chances for clemency. A Soviet court Friday sentenced him to 10 years on espionage charges specifying that the first three years were to be spent in prison.

Russian Space Dogs Reported In Good Shape

MOSCOW (AP) — Two dogs arrived in Moscow Sunday, the first living things ever to return from orbit around the earth. Officials said they were in good condition and easily withstood the physical stresses of their historic flight.

The dogs, Belka—squirrel—and Strelka—arrow—were brought to the capital from the secret spot in the Soviet Union where scientists Saturday recaptured the detached capsule in which they rode.

With a company of smaller animals, insects and various plants, the dogs had been aloft 24 hours and had traveled 434,700 miles in an orbit 198.8 miles above the earth.

The official news agency Tass quoted the Soviet Academy of Sciences as saying after checking the terrier-sized dogs that their condition "seemed no different from that observed during ground training in preparation for the flight."

Tests in Moscow showed their hearts and blood pressures were normal and the other animals were in good condition, Tass said.

"One of the plants which was on board the space ship continues to blossom," Tass reported.

Mice which also made the space journey "willingly nibble on biscuits and other food" and flies "keep flying around the flasks in which they had traveled into space."

Tass then quoted a number of space scientists on the implications of the flight. Prof. D. V. Martynov noted that the 4½-ton space vehicle used in the test "could carry both a man and a large variety of scientific instruments."

Prof. R. Grigoryev said the problem of recovering a space ship represents "the threshold man must cross before stepping directly into space."

Prof. G. Kokrovsky spoke of good space travel conditions in the near future. He said solar activity is entering into a cycle of decline "and for a few years, man's flight in space will be less dangerous from the viewpoint of radiation effects."

He said Lumumba's attacks "gave an impression of deep distrust and hostility fomented for political ends."

Gizenga repeated charges that Hammarskjöld had given an incorrect interpretation to council resolutions on use of U.N. forces in the Congo. Gizenga also criticized the secretary-general for dealing with Katanga Premier Moïse Tshombe and for allegedly failing to keep the Congolese government informed about U.N. plans.

Virginia Lawyers Submit Powers Clemency Plea

MOSCOW (AP)—A petition for clemency for U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers was drawn up on this rainy Moscow Sunday by three Virginia lawyers who accompanied members of his family to the Soviet Union.

Attorney Alexander W. Parker of Richmond said the petition will be submitted Sunday at the office of Leonid Brezhnev, chairman of the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet, sometimes termed the Soviet president.

Powers already has let it be known he doesn't think much of his chances for clemency. A Soviet court Friday sentenced him to 10 years on espionage charges specifying that the first three years were to be spent in prison.

Contents of the clemency petition were not made public but

Bitter Debate Erupts Over Congo Policy

Demands Authority Be Curbed Resisted By Hammarskjöld

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The Soviet Union Sunday joined the Congo government in demanding drastic changes in the U.N. Congo operations and calling for curbs on the authority of Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld.

Hammarskjöld, however, stood firm and warned that continued opposition to the U.N. might force him to call for reconsideration of the entire U.N. aid program in the Congo.

The dramatic clash took place at an emergency meeting of the 11-nation Security Council called by the secretary-general after the growing hostility between him and Congo Premier Patrice Lumumba had erupted in a series of incidents in the troubled African country.

Congolese Vice Premier Antoine Gizenga accused Hammarskjöld of misinterpreting Security Council resolutions and refusing to cooperate with the Congolese government in putting down opposition in Katanga Province.

He called for creation of a committee of neutral Asian and African nations to carry out U.N. operations in the Congo, with or without Hammarskjöld's participation.

Soviet Echoes Congolese

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov backed Gizenga's demands. He also supported Congo government demands that Congolese airports be placed under control of Congolese troops and that U.N. planes be made available to transport Congolese troops.

Hammarskjöld previously had turned down these demands. Kuznetsov repeated Soviet charges that Hammarskjöld was working closely with Western countries which were seeking to impose control over the Congo.

He said the secretary-general's interpretation of Security Council resolutions had no legal standing without formal action by the Council confirming such interpretation. The secretary-general, however, said no Council action was necessary.

Hammarskjöld stood firmly by his position that the U.N.'s main job in the Congo was to get the Belgian forces out and to preserve order until the new Congo government could train its own security forces.

Dag Cites U.N. Charter

He said the withdrawal of Belgian military forces would be completed within a week and that this would bring to an end the threat to international peace. The U.N., he said, has no right under its charter to intervene in the internal political affairs of the Congo or any other country.

It was this issue which touched off the fight between Lumumba and Hammarskjöld. Lumumba maintained that the U.N. should have moved into rebellious Katanga province by force, if necessary, and should help the central government subdue the provincial authorities.

Hammarskjöld said Lumumba had placed the U.N. in a delicate position which brought into question the "very dignity of the organization and the governments which it represents."

He said Lumumba's attacks "gave an impression of deep distrust and hostility fomented for political ends."

Gizenga repeated charges that Hammarskjöld had given an incorrect interpretation to council resolutions on use of U.N. forces in the Congo. Gizenga also criticized the secretary-general for dealing with Katanga Premier Moïse Tshombe and for allegedly failing to keep the Congolese government informed about U.N. plans.

Army Security Officer Ends Life In Flames

FT. MEADE, Md. (AP) — An Army officer assigned to Ft. Meade for top-secret security work was found dead Sunday in the burned remains of his car at the entrance to Bowie race track.

Prince Georges County detectives at Seat Pleasant said he took his own life.

Ft. Meade identified the victim as 2nd Lt. Martin H. Innet, 23, of Laurel, Md., assigned just over a week ago to the U. S. Army Security Agency, a supporting element of the hush-hush National Security Agency at Meade.

Detective H.W. Schoen of Prince Georges County said Innet sprayed the interior of his station wagon with gasoline, poured gasoline over himself, then set fire to it.

Dr. James Boyd, county coroner, attributed death to shock and universal burns.

The flaming vehicle was found about 9:30 a. m. parked at the race track entrance on Maryland 197, about seven miles south of Ft. Meade. A Bowie fire and rescue team did not know there was anyone inside until they put out the fire and discovered the body.

Innet was married but had no children. A spokesman at Ft. Meade said his wife had last seen him sometime in the morning. He left no note.

The spokesman at Meade said Innet had just arrived here Aug. 12 from Ft. Devens, Mass. He had not begun work and was undergoing processing and orientation.

He was an ROTC officer and a graduate of the University of Denver.

Uganda Nationalist Leader Crash Victim

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — The Asian-African Secretariat here said Sunday, it has received word from Moscow that John Kale, 32, secretary of the National party of Uganda, was killed in a plane crash while en route to the Soviet capital last week.

He left Cairo with a group of other persons Wednesday aboard a Soviet Ilyushin 18 transport plane to attend the trial of American U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers, on invitation of the Soviet government. The announcement said only that the plane caught fire and all aboard perished. It did not give details as to the exact time or place of the crash or the number aboard.

Kale was leader of the Uganda independence movement and for some years had lived in exile in Cairo.

Congress Session Length Seen Up To House Group

WASHINGTON (AP)—A House Rules Committee meeting this week may determine how long the present session of Congress will last and what it will do.

Regardless of the views of the major political nominees who are calling the shots in the Senate, the House committee is dominating the post-convention session.

It, rather than Vice President Richard M. Nixon, or Sens. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) and Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.), has the big say on whether there will be minimum wage, school, housing and health aid legislation, all of which figure to be major campaign issues.

The Rules Committee of eight Democrats and four Republicans headed by Chairman Howard W. Smith (D-Va.) has been sitting tightly on housing and school aid bills. It soon will take jurisdiction over minimum wage and health aid measures.

All these measures are, in their present form, considered too broad by the conservative coalition that controls the rules group.

It takes seven votes to budge a bill from the committee and clear it for further action. The normal peak strength of the committee's less-conservative group is six votes, which are cast by Democrats Ray J. Madden of Indiana, James J. Delaney of New York, James W. Trimble of Arkansas, Homer Thornberry of Texas, Richard Bolling of Missouri and Thomas P. O'Neill of Massachusetts.

Joining with Smith to give the coalition its customary controlling votes are Democrat William M. Colmer of Mississippi and Republicans Leo E. Allen of Illinois, Clarence J. Brown of Ohio, B. Carroll Reece of Tennessee and Hiram Budge of Idaho. They occasionally are bolstered by the support of Trimble when racial questions of vital import are involved.

Although both the Senate and the House have passed school bills in different forms — the Rules Committee has refused to permit the measures to go to a Senate-House conference committee for compromise. The House measure contains an anti-segregation provision which drew Trimble's opposition.

Without Rules Committee clearance, there are only three ways to send legislation to compromise committees: 1. by unanimous consent, which is impossible on controversial bills; 2. by suspending the rules, which takes a two-thirds vote of the House and is improbable on controversial bills; 3. by petition, which is a cumbersome and time-consuming procedure and seldom gets results.

While serving here, Rev. Mr. Snyder has been president, secretary and a member of the board of the Cumberland Ministerial Association. He also has been a member of the board of the Cumberland Kiwanis Club and of the boards of the Salvation Army, Central YMCA and the Allegany County Youth Commission.

Within his own denomination, he was a secretary of the Western Conference of the Maryland Synod and served as chairman of both the pre-Lenten retreat and public committees of the Synod. He also was a member of the synod's committee on Lutheran publications and the committee for congregational realignment.

Immediately after announcing his resignation, Pastor Snyder left for Jefferson, in Frederick County, where he will spend this week as a counselor at the Maryland Synod Summer Camp.

Pastor Snyder is married to the former Miss Margaret Goodson, a native of Canada and a graduate of West Chester (Pa.) State Teachers College near Philadelphia. She taught several years at John Humbird Elementary School after coming here. The Snyders are the parents of two small children.

Informal sources said Keita probably will be allowed to return soon to Bamako, capital of Sudan.

Despite the breakup of the federation, announced Saturday, Dia accepted an invitation from President Charles de Gaulle of France to go to Paris to discuss the dispute. There was no indication whether Keita had accepted a similar invitation.

De Gaulle also is president of the French Community, which embraces the two nations that made up the Mali Federation and 10 other former French African States.

De Gaulle asked Keita and Dia to "inform me as to your intentions either in the way of rapprochement between Sudan and Senegal or of the ties which you plan between Sudan and Senegal and France within the community." He asked that "nothing be done to compromise the future."

U. S. Proposes New Hungarian Debate In U. N.

UNITED NATIONS N.Y. (UPI) — The United States proposed Sunday a new debate on Hungary in the United Nations General Assembly.

The announcement by the U. S. delegation came on the heels of a Soviet announcement that Russia will request General Assembly debate on the U-2 spy plane flight and the downing of the RB-47 reconnaissance plane over the Barents Sea.

U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge sent a letter to U. N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld Saturday asking that the assembly, which convenes Sept. 20, take up for the fifth time the Soviet suppression of the Hungarian Rebellion in 1956.

The assembly last December adopted by a 53-10 vote, with 17 abstentions, a resolution deploring the continued Soviet and Hungarian disregard of U. N. resolutions relation to the question, and calling upon the two governments to cooperate with the U. N. representative on Hungary.

The U. N. representative, Sir Leslie Munro of New Zealand, reported last April 8 that his efforts to consult Soviet and Hungarian authorities had been rejected.

Senegal Rallies Behind Leader

DAKAR, Senegal (AP) — Senegalese rallied Sunday behind Mamadou Dia, who established Senegal as an independent state after leading it out of the Mali Federation with the former French Sudan.

Dia's rival, Modibo Keita, a Sudanese who was premier and acting president of the federation, was kept under guard by 15 Senegalese soldiers at a villa here. The Senegalese accused him of trying to monopolize the federation's administration and to take over the Army.

Informal sources said Keita probably will be allowed to return soon to Bamako, capital of Sudan.

Despite the breakup of the federation, announced Saturday, Dia accepted an invitation from President Charles de Gaulle of France to go to Paris to discuss the dispute. There was no indication whether Keita had accepted a similar invitation.

Services will be conducted Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the Beaver Run Church of the Brethren by Rev. C. H. Cameron and Rev. A. S. A. Holsinger. Burial will be in Beaver Run Cemetery.

The body will be at the home of Mrs. Edna Lewis, 412 Ward Avenue, Keyser, after 2 p. m. today, and will be taken to the church at noon Wednesday.

Powers May Be Sent To Prison Colony In Year

MOSCOW (AP)—Good behavior could send Francis Gary Powers from a prison cell to a prison colony within a year, his Soviet lawyer says.

Powers, the American U2 pilot shot down over the Soviet Union, was convicted Friday of espionage against the Soviet Union. A Soviet military court sentenced him to 10 years loss of liberty, specifying the first three years would be spent in prison.

But Powers' defense counsel, Mikhail Grinyov, says a transfer to a prison colony could come within a year.

Unless special conditions are applied to the case of the 31-year-old American pilot, he will be put under the jurisdiction of the Regional Prison Control Commission made up of local party and government officials with broad powers to reduce prison terms of prisoners showing good behavior.

There has been no indication what prison Powers will be assigned to. But the Soviet Union says it has made great strides of late in its penology program with the emphasis on rehabilitation rather than punishment.

The old prison camps of Siberia are said to have largely disappeared and been replaced with modern institutions which in theory aim at restoring the prisoner as a useful member of society in as short a time as possible.

Grinyov has said Powers' wife, Barbara, will be permitted to visit her husband once a month while he is in prison. Prison visits would be allowed more often when Powers is transferred to a prison colony, he said.

Prisoner Saws Out Of Maryland Prison

JESSUP, Md. (AP)—State Police Sunday issued a 13-state alarm for a 35-year-old prisoner who sawed his way out of the House of Correction and dropped 40 feet to freedom on a rope of bed sheets.

Police identified the escapee as Raymond Fields, a native of Kermit, W. Va. He was serving a five year sentence for burglary in Prince Georges County.

Scott Renews Charge But Denies Mudslinging

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hugh Scott (R-Pa.) rejected Sunday a suggestion he was engaging in mudslinging against Sen. John F. Kennedy in raising a question about financing the transportation of 250 African students.

Saying he had no personal criticism of the Democratic presidential nominee, Scott said: "If the Kennedy people are using the family wealth for purposes which they should not use without reporting it, that is a perfectly proper thing to discuss."

Scott made his comment on a taped ABC-TV program "College News Conference," after a questioner asked if the GOP's presidential campaign for Vice President Richard M. Nixon would be "the personality - mud-slinging type."

The questioner did this after Scott renewed his charge, made in the Senate last Wednesday, that the Kennedy family foundation outside the State Department in providing $100,000 to finance transportation for 250 African scholarship students to this country.

Scott's implication was that Kennedy's aides figured footing the bill would help him politically with U.S. Negro voters. Kennedy said the Joseph P. Kennedy Jr. Foundation offered to advance the money only after it was told the State Department has refused a request to furnish the funds. Kennedy said it was stipulated the foundation was to remain anonymous.

Kennedy said it was stipulated the foundation was to remain anonymous.

The questioner did this after Scott renewed his charge, made in the Senate last Wednesday, that the Kennedy family foundation outside the State Department in providing $100,000 to finance transportation for 250 African scholarship students to this country.

Scott's implication was that Kennedy's aides figured footing the bill would help him politically with U.S. Negro voters. Kennedy said the Joseph P. Kennedy Jr. Foundation offered to advance the money only after it was told the State Department has refused a request to furnish the funds. Kennedy said it was stipulated the foundation was to remain anonymous.

Teller Sees U.S. Nuclear Tests Saving Billions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Edward Teller, noted atomic scientist who has been urging resumption of nuclear tests, said Sunday continued weapons development would save the United States billions of dollars in the long run.

Teller, in a taped NBC radio-TV interview, "Meet the Press," put his argument in these words: "We can make the nuclear explosives lighter, the vehicle that has to carry them will be lighter. To handle these vehicles will become cheaper."

Saying he favored negotiation "with anybody in the world to create a better community," Teller commented that the Russians, however, at present that we are not at all assured that the Russians will stay where they are."

"They may without our knowing it, go into a long, effective series of tests which can give rise to great improvements on their side and if they decided so, we would not know," the scientist said.

Teller, who played a leading role in developing the H-bomb, stressed the need for what he called a "second strike force — a force which is mobile enough, safe enough so that if the Russians attack us, we still have enough power left to strike back."

"Useless Gesture"

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.) Sunday termed the current session of Congress "a useless gesture."

He said the session "is filled with political gimmicks and it's going to cost the American people untold hundreds of millions of dollars in appropriations that had we the sober time to think about it we probably would not accept."

WASHINGTON (AP)—The minimum wage bill adopted last week by the Senate would raise the pay of about 190,000 Marylanders and Virginia residents about 50 million dollars in 1961.

The AFL-CIO estimated that the wages of 70,000 Marylanders and 75,000 Virginians now covered by the $1 an hour minimum would be boosted to $1.15 on Jan. 1 if the bill becomes law.

The measure, sponsored by Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, the Democratic presidential candidate, would also increase to $1 an hour the minimum wage of about 20,000 Marylanders and 25,000 Virginians not now covered by the minimum wage law.

The Senate-passed bill would eventually raise the minimum wage to $1.25 an hour.

Rail Merger Tax Effect Study Ordered By State

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Maryland's chief fiscal officer has ordered a study of how a proposed railroad merger might affect the state's pocketbook.

Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein appointed a group of tax experts to study possible loss of revenues to the state and its subdivisions if the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad merges with another line.

Goldstein appeared more concerned with a possible loss of money to the state than with the possibility that the railroad might be paying $1,400,000 more each year if a merger affects its tax-exempt charter.

The comptroller said a merger "could very well materially affect Maryland's tax revenue." The Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad and the New York Central have made separate merger offers to the B&O.

Goldstein cited the economic impact that might be felt if headquarters should be moved from Baltimore and if some operations now in Maryland were shifted to another state.

"A shifting of the general offices and shops of the railroad, which seems to have followed railroad mergers in other areas... would put a lot of employees out of work or would require their transfer from Maryland to other areas," he said.

"We hope to obtain data which will include the number of employees by locations, total payrolls, income and sales tax paid, real estate and local taxes paid, and the effect generally of the buying power of these employees at local levels."

SRC Plans Sign Study

BALTIMORE (AP)—The State Roads Commission plans to make a study of directional signs on Maryland highways, with an eye toward improving them.

SRC Director John B. Funk said Saturday that rear-end collisions in the past may have been caused in part by confusing placement and types of signs.

Elderly Man, Tot Maryland Traffic Victims

By The Associated Press

An elderly Virginia man and a 2-year-old Pennsylvania boy were weekend traffic victims in Maryland.

In another accident, a Washington man died Saturday night after he accidentally bumped his head on a boat beam at Cobb Island in St. Marys County.

The victim of the boat accident was Raymond O. Myhrer, 45. Police said he fell and struck his head as he sought to find a short circuit aboard his 43-foot cabin cruiser.

Carter Holmes, 77, Negro, of St. Stevens Church, Va. died of a fractured skull Saturday night after a car in which he was riding collided with another auto on U. S. 301 one mile south of Waldorf in Charles County.

State Police said the car in which Holmes was a passenger ran into the rear of a disabled auto which was being pushed.

The young Pennsylvania victim was Marion Scott Smith of Latrobe, Pa. He died in Washington County Hospital at Hagerstown early Sunday, about 10 hours after he had been struck by a car on Walnut Point Road, six miles west of Hagerstown.

State Police said the youngster was in front of a car driven by Samuel Benjamin Carpenter of Clear Spring, Md.

Five members of a Pennsylvania family were injured Saturday night in a two-car collision on the Baltimore County Beltway. All were released after treatment at Union Memorial Hospital except Karl Lehmann, 59, of Nescopeck, Pa., and his son, Uwe.

Rees May Not Be Called To Trial Until December

BALTIMORE (AP)—Melvin Davis Rees Jr., 31-year-old Hyattsville musician charged with kidnapping and murdering a Virginia mother and daughter in January, 1959, may not face trial until December.

Defense lawyers for Rees said they will not be ready for trial in September, the month suggested by the prosecution. October and November sessions of U. S. District Court will probably be taken up with a mail fraud case.

Rees has been indicted for the slaying of Mrs. Mildred Jackson of Apple Grove, Va., and her 5-year-old daughter. Virginia authorities have said they will prosecute Rees for the deaths of Carroll V. Jackson, Mrs. Jackson's husband, and another Jackson daughter, if Rees does not get the death penalty in Maryland. The bodies of Jackson and the second daughter were found in Virginia.

Bowlus Heads Maryland Elks

CAMBRIDGE (AP)—Robert Bowlus of Frederick was installed Sunday as president of the Maryland-Delaware-District of Columbia Elks Assn.

Bowlus was elected Saturday night to succeed Louis A. Myers of Salisbury. The elections climaxed a four-day convention of the group.

Other officers elected were William T. Sturgis, Salisbury, first vice president; William Goodman, Prince Georges County, second vice president; Otto Orland, Annapolis, third vice president; R. Edward Dove, Annapolis, secretary, and Ronald Miller, Hagerstown, chaplain.

Named as trustees for three years were Daniel T. Wills, Towson, Sigfried Michaels, Annapolis, and Francis W. Taylor, Silver Spring.

About 700 Elks and their wives attended the 40th annual convention of the association.

State Political Pace Quickens

By The Associated Press

The pace of Maryland election-year politics quickened over the weekend as Republicans appointed a voter registration chairman and Democrats named a head for their fund drive.

D. Eldred Rinehart, chairman of the Republican State Committee, named James F. Fansen to supervise GOP efforts to sign up unregistered voters. Fansen is a 32-year-old former Baltimore magistrate. The Republicans acted in the wake of an intense Democratic registration drive started in Baltimore last week, using student volunteers.

Both parties say they feel they can win Maryland victories by rounding up unregistered voters. Mrs. Sanford V. Larkley of Baltimore was picked to head the 1960 Dollars for Democrats drive. Thomas B. Finan, state party chairman, said the Sept. 9-19 drive this year "could be the most extensive ever conducted by Maryland Democrats."

Finan described the drive as the second phase in his organization's fund campaign. The first phase — already planned — is a $100-a-plate dinner at Baltimore Sept. 16, at which presidential nominee John F. Kennedy will be the main speaker.

Prison Camp May Be Moved To Crownsville

BALTIMORE (AP)—Maryland's minimum-security correctional camp at Sandy Point State Park may be moved to the Crownsville State Hospital grounds near Annapolis.

James W. Curran, State prison superintendent, said Saturday the Sandy Point site was bought with an agreement that it would be used for park purposes.

"Sooner or later," Curran said, "we're going to be asked to get out."

Sandy Point, accommodating about 160 men, is one of five camps operated by the state. Curran said he would ask $335,000 to cover the move, which has already been approved tentatively by the mental hygiene department. Twenty-five acres of Crownsville Hospital property would be needed for the new camp.

Md. School Enrollment Up 29,000

By The Associated Press

A record 588,000 pupils will attend Maryland public schools this year, 29,000 more than last year. Nearly 25,000 teachers will be on hand, representing an increase of 1,400 over 1959-60.

In all but two counties, public schools will open on Sept. 6 or 7. The exceptions are Dorchester County, where schools open Sept. 1, and Howard County, where schools open Sept. 8.

In Baltimore City, 170,000 pupils are expected to report to public schools Sept. 6, a gain of 3,700 over last year. City schools will employ 6,850 teachers, 250 more than last year.

Parochial schools in the Archdiocese of Baltimore will accommodate 63,000 pupils this year, an increase of about 1,000 over last year. The archdiocese includes Allegany, Anne Arundel, Carroll, Frederick, Garrett, Harford, Howard, Washington and Baltimore counties and Baltimore city. Catholic elementary schools in the area open Sept. 7, high schools open at various times after Labor Day.

Arson Squad Probes Baltimore Blaze

BALTIMORE (AP)—Baltimore's arson squad was investigating Sunday a three-alarm fire that damaged the basement and first floor of a daily financial and legal newspaper.

The blaze was at the Daily Record Co. building Saturday night. Three firemen were hurt fighting the fire — one by smoke poisoning, and the others in accidents. Police said they found a door forced open, and that vandals had tampered with several vending machines in the building. The fire apparently started in files of back issues of the paper kept in the basement.

J. C. Hoffman III, vice president of the newspaper, said no major equipment had been damaged, and the paper would continue publishing on schedule.

Politics And The VFW Convention

This week's encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars at Detroit appears bound to produce political headlines, although not on the scale that has been expected. Vice President Richard M. Nixon will address the convention on Wednesday. Sen. John F. Kennedy has declined an invitation because of the press of legislation in Washington.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur — who used a convention of the American Legion in Miami in 1951 to launch a bitter attack on the Truman administration — turned down for health reasons an invitation to be keynote speaker at this year's VFW meeting. Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates Jr. replaces him.

Some VFW stalwarts are a bit miffed by Kennedy's decision inasmuch as they had received a preliminary notice he would be there. Sources report Kennedy had to back out because of an important Labor Day speech in Detroit. The bloom would have been off the Kennedy rose for that occasion if he had appeared in the Motor City two weeks earlier with the VFW.

At any rate, it is a fine opportunity for Nixon to make his pitch for the veteran vote. About a fourth of the nation's 22 million veterans of all wars belong to one or more of 300 active veterans' organizations. The VFW and the American Legion are the biggest, with 1,350,000 and 2,653,000 members, respectively.

As usual, delegates to the VFW convention can be expected to go on record in favor of liberalizing government veterans' benefits, with emphasis on adequate care of ailing and needy vets rather than on government bonus payments. A major fight is brewing over service pensions for all World War I veterans.

Happily, the trend among major veterans' groups in recent years has been to less emphasis on horseplay and more on national and international affairs. In this connection, the most informative appearance at the VFW convention may be that of Central Intelligence Agency director Allen W. Dulles, who will make one of his rare and usually illuminating speeches to the delegates today.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

It Costs Too Much

The 1960 national conventions cost the television and radio networks and stations between $15,000,000 and $20,000,000. It is estimated that about two-thirds of this amount will be covered by sponsored advertising.

More than 5,000 newspaper reporters, apart from the 350 radio and television reporters, attended these conventions. The cost of this coverage is much too high for what it is worth. The convention is no longer free to control its own time. Each of the national committees receives a huge contribution from the city where it is held. This fund is made up by contributions from hotels, merchants and others who benefit by the large influx of visitors to a city. Competitive bidding is a factor in determining which city is to get a convention. It is part of the deal that the convention will last a minimum number of days.

For this reason some of the time is taken up with useless oratory, singing, and other matters which are a waste of time and money. Many hours could have been saved in both conventions if a few of the orators were omitted, considering what they said. As for the music, some of it was fairly good, but I was listening on television; in the convention hall, little of it is ever heard.

The conventions and the campaigns cost too much and take too much time. In no other country on Earth does a campaign continue for three months from convention to election and that does not include the primaries. The cost this year may mount as high as $30,000,000 which the two parties will have to find. This does not include what the candidates and their families may spend and what ancillary groups may spend. There will, for instance, be no accounting for what Walter Reuther's United Auto Workers Union will spend or what Jimmy Hoffa's International Brotherhood of Teamsters Union will spend. There will be other organizations on both sides that will add to the expenditures for this election, some accountable, some not accountable for what they do. As a matter of good government and justice, every cent spent by anyone for any reason for a Presidential or other candidate ought to be recorded in a sworn statement.

It should be a felony for a candidate to receive unrecorded financial assistance.

Shall we reach the day when the Presidency of the United States will be sold to the highest bidder? If the campaign were limited to one month, it would make more sense. With television available to the entire nation, it makes little sense for the candidate to visit 50 states. He can say what he has to say in a 30-day period and can be televised at all hours of the day and night without all the unnecessary coaxing over the place. The whistle-stop speech-making was invented when there was no other way to let the people see a candidate. Today, everyone can see television or listen to radio and know as much about a candidate as it is necessary to know.

Of course, the candidates would have to compete with "Wagon Train" and "Peter Gunn" but that might force them to be interesting and not to depend so much upon the ghastly product of ghosts. In a shorter campaign, the candidates might even have time to write their own speeches and say what they mean. The ghost writer has become a pest and a nuisance, particularly those who regard themselves as great statesmen when what they really are at most are grammarians.

As for money, why not limit expenditures for each candidate, from all sources, to $1,000,000? There ought to be no exceptions to reporting and the candidate himself should be held responsible for the total expenditure, failure to remain within limits being a felony. Television time should be free, a recognition by the networks and stations that their license is not for nothing.

In Great Britain there are limitations both as to campaign time and expenditures. There each candidate's manager is made responsible for obeying the law. And it works.

It could be made to work in the United States. The country would get used to a short campaign and take it more seriously. Our people would respect a candidate more if he spent less money to get elected. After all, a Presidency that costs so much to get can become very cheap.

'First, You Lick My Boots'

Who Will Win The New York Negro Vote?

NEW YORK

By Joseph Alsop

The streets of Brooklyn's Sixth Assembly District — Schenectady and Utica Avenues, Herkimer Street, and the rest — are places that give a grim, sardonic overtone to our newly fashionable self-description, "The Affluent Society."

The Negro district in Brooklyn is at least better than Harlem because trees grow there, and because the warrens where the people live are small houses, instead of high apartment buildings with garbage-littered halls. But these are poor people, on the Harlem income level, and with the Harlem voting habit.

In this melancholy area, Oliver Quayle of the Louis Harris organization and this reporter finished the last lap of a survey of the current tendencies in New York's huge and crucial special voting groups. We found that the Democrats ought to do well with the Negro voters, this time, unless our fifty-two-voter sample was seriously misleading.

The Democrats will not do well because Sen. John F. Kennedy has made a great impression among the Negro voters, any more than the Republicans will gain because of the civil rights maneuvers of Sens. Keating and Javits or because of the presence of Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas on the Democratic ticket. These factors, so widely expected to influence the Negro voters, appeared to have virtually no influence at all.

The sole pollee who seemed to care much about Lyndon Johnson, for instance, was a wonderfully vigorous, sternly Republican old lady, Mrs. Elizabeth White, of 555 Herkimer Street. She cast her ballot for Richard M. Nixon, but volunteered that she "would sooner vote for Sen. Johnson than either of these whippersnappers we've got to choose from." The religious issue, too, seemed to have almost no influence, although virtually all the Brooklyn people we talked with were church-going Protestants.

The truth is that when you go below a certain average income level, as you almost always do, alas, when polling an urban Negro district, the only issue that really counts are jobs. The economic pressures are all the more effective, too, because people cease to have many television sets and do not regularly read the newspapers when this average income level is passed. Thus the images, as the analysts now say, are dim, and the personal situations of the voters themselves are also painfully vivid.

Below this income level, too, the great former asset of the Democratic Party is still as valuable as ever. Most working people have ceased to say that "the Democrats are for the poor folks," because they have so largely ceased to think of themselves as poor folks. But it is never like that in the Negro streets of Brooklyn. And this year jobs are scarce for Negroes because the economy is not running at full blast.

For this strongly predominant reason, our sample went for Kennedy by a hair better than two to one-fifteen for Nixon, thirty-one for Kennedy, and six undecided, to be exact. This was all the more ominous for the Republicans because our sample was heavily overweighed in the Republican party's favor, at least among those who had voted last time (who are probable voters next time, one must add).

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

TV AND CANDIDATES—One of the nation's major television networks has found a new interest in their medium among political office-seekers. In past years this network has offered to coach politicians in television techniques—a sort of school for candidates—but has gotten sparse reaction.

This year, however, their invitation brought unexpected results. About 25 members of Congress have notified the network's Washington outlet that they're interested and want to know more about the school. One senator wanted to send his assistant to get pointers so he could help him in the campaign.

Could it be that these politicians watched the conventions on television and decided there was room for improvement in the political speeches?

CIVIL WAR—The Civil War was fought to free the slaves. The Civil Rights Commission was organized —about 100 years later—to try to bring to the descendants of slaves some of the constitutional rights that are theirs.

Across a park from the White House are two government agencies, the Civil Rights Commission and the Civil War Centennial Commission.

A member of the Civil Rights unit complained recently that his agency had to get along this year on a budget of $850,000, while the Civil War memorial group had a cool million to work with.

He wondered why the government was spending more to commemorate the war than it was on bringing to fruition some of the reasons the war was fought in the first place. He hasn't gotten a good answer yet.

Democratic Senators Line Up With Republicans Against Aid For Aged

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—When the Senate Finance Committee shut its doors to debate old-age health insurance in secret, six Democrats not only teamed up with the six Republicans but brought in so many anti-old age advisers from the Eisenhower Administration that Illinois' wrathful Sen. Paul Douglas demanded that they leave.

The Democratic-Republican coalition was led by Oklahoma's burly Sen. Bob Kerr and Delaware's diminutive Sen. Allen Frear, the Mutt and Jeff of the Finance Committee, who supported President Eisenhower's proposals against those of their own Democratic nominee, Sen. Jack Kennedy.

"This is the Kerr-Frear-Eisenhower approach," Kerr frankly confessed.

Kerr is the wealthiest member of the Senate, owns oil reserves and leases worth about $100,000,000. Frear votes faithfully and consistently the bidding of the Delaware du Ponts. They were backstopped by Sen. Harry Byrd of Virginia, biggest apple-grower in the world.

The issue was whether to charge medical insurance to Social Security and extend it to all the aged as proposed by Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, or to keep the present program and limit the benefits to the indigent. As a sop, the coalition agreed to reduce the income from $1,800 to $1,200 and the age limit for men from 65 to 62.

In preparing their proposals, Kerr and Frear were coached by Ike's experts from the Treasury and Health-Education-Welfare Departments. But when these advisers were admitted behind closed doors with carefully prepared charts and graphs, Senator Douglas blew up.

"The Eisenhower Administration doesn't call our people in on their decisions," thundered Douglas, "now administration people should not sit in on our executive sessions."

Without a protest from Democrat Kerr, his Republican advisers hastily departed.

Sen. Albert Gore, the tough Tennesseean, charged that the Kerr-Frear-Eisenhower proposals had been dictated by the American Medical Association.

What Is Socialized Medicine? "The American Medical Association," he snorted, "considers it socialized medicine if the Social Security Board pays the doctor bills. But if the Federal Government pays 80 per cent for the aged or all in the case of veterans, then they call it private enterprise."

Kerr argued that his proposals, beefing up the present program, would provide coverage for older persons who are not eligible for Social Security. It would also, he said, keep the program under state control.

"But under your bill, a person would have to be practically a medical indigent to receive aid," Douglas protested bitterly. "He would have to submit to the humiliation of professing he is a pauper."

Ne Mexico's astute Sen. Clint Anderson, who did most of the talking behind closed doors for the Kennedy Plan, contended that it would be a pay-as-you-go plan, allowing workers to contribute to their own health insurance in later life. At the same time, he said it would provide immediate relief for old folks who now need medical aid but are not eligible or are too proud to apply as indigents.

Just as the Social Security program provided immediate benefits but eventually paid for itself, Anderson explained, so would the Health Insurance Program being pushed by Kennedy.

But the showdown vote, Democratic Senators Byrd of Virginia, Smathers of Florida, Long of Louisiana, Talmadge of Georgia, Kerr and Frear voted against their candidate for President. All six committee Republicans voted against it, though this plan was the essence of the Nixon-Rockefeller GOP platform.

Those who stuck with Kennedy were Hartke of Indiana, Douglas, Gore, and Anderson. Minnesota's Sen. Gene McCarthy voted with the four liberal Democrats on some points, abstained from others.

However, the Finance Committee is loaded with Conservative Democrats who vote with the Republicans more often than with their own party: so Kennedy may still be able to rally enough Democrats to change the verdict on the Senate floor.

Telephone Addicts

Sen. Lyndon Johnson, who keeps his telephone buzzing all over Capitol Hill and all over the United States, has had a telephone installed in his government limousine, allotted to him as Majority Leader of the Senate.

Not to be outdone, Illinois Sen. Everett Dirksen, the Republican Leader, had a telephone placed in his government limousine. The other day both men were driving to work. According to Senate functionaries, Dirksen spotted Johnson's limousine in the block ahead, picked up his new telephone, and dialed Johnson's number.

"Lyndon, this is Ev," purred Dirksen, "I want you to know that I have a phone in my car, too."

"Will you excuse me just a minute?" replied Lyndon sweetly. "My other phone is ringing."

Behind The Scenes

Political advisers of both Vice President Nixon and Senator Kennedy tried to persuade their candidates to duck out of the proposed television debates. Nixon's advisers warned that face-to-face discussions would be too risky. They pointed out that the polls show Nixon ahead, so why should he risk the ground that he has gained? Kennedy's advisers argued that Nixon would have the advantage because he has been a champion debater since high school. Kennedy has had no debate training. However, both candidates turned down the advice and went ahead with negotiations for the historic debates.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

There is considerable sympathy for Fidel Castro in the Americas. In Mexico and Brazil and Uruguay and Guatemala, the people see him as a loner who is struggling against the might of a soulless mercenary called Uncle Sam. Their governments see him for what he is: a paranoiac with a messianic complex. This leads to a question—who put Castro in power?

Americans. They did it with dollars and publicity. Ten days ago, when the bearded despot confiscated the big American plantations and oil refineries, it forced a crooked smile from these lips. Some Americans kept Fidel Castro alive in the Sierra Maestra mountains with their contributions.

They sent money, just as they sent money to Fulgencio Batista, the deadly dictator who killed and maimed and enslaved. The Americans did not want to be caught on the wrong side. Castro's army never numbered more than a few hundred men, and he was too frightened ever to face the Cuban army in battle.

He and his brother Raul had been imprisoned once before for losing a revolution, and they remembered the cells on the Isle of Pines. So, to keep attention focused on their comic opera siesta in the hills, they began to kidnap Americans, treat them royally, and invite Life magazine down for exclusive stories.

The publicity in Life helped. No one asked Castro his politics. In Washington, the State Department of Mr. Dulles was too busy fighting communism on the edge of Berlin to see it on the edge of Key West. For a while, Senator Castro had to be content with American publicity. Unwittingly, the American magazines and newspapers beat the drums for Castro. He was the underdog; he was the savior of the poor; he was a dark David out to slay the vicious Goliath.

We bought the whole package. We believed. We had faith. A Batista general sealed the situation by meeting Castro in the dark of night and agreeing to betray Batista. He would deliver Havana's three forts to the revolution. Ironically, Castro refused to attend the meeting unless a priest was present.

Grandpappy Jenkins says you're a real old-timer if you can remember when a candidate for a presidential nomination admitted he'd accept the Vice Presidency.

Most of my readers know that Jack Paar and I went to Havana immediately after Castro arrived in town. He was in a suite of rooms on the 23d floor of the Havana Hilton. We were on the 22d. The American press still adored him.

Mr. Matthews of the New York Times admired Castro; Mr. DuBois of the Chicago Tribune had such an "in" with Castro that Paar and I asked him to fix up an interview for us.

A lot of people have kidded Paar for believing that Castro was on the level. Paar was the first, and only person, to suggest that I interview the Catholic hierarchy in Havana to get the lowdown on Castro. I got an audience with the auxiliary bishop of Havana and, when I asked him (January 1959) if there was any taint of Communism about the Castro revolution, he had to smile. There was no Communism in Castro, the holy man assured me, and none in his army and no place where it could grow in Cuba.

I went back to the Hilton and had a chat with Paar. I told him what the bishop had said, and told him that we had it on film. That was good enough for Paar. The next night he had an interview with the bearded one. I was supposed to attend, but couldn't stomach Castro's massive ego and bruised pride, so I left Cuba by plane two hours before the interview.

It was not that I had the clairvoyance to see that Castro was a Red. It was merely that I had a hunch that this man was insane; that he could not stop talking and could not stop killing. Paar and I tried to see Che Guevara, the Communist who will soon lead Fidel down the trail to a real Red Revolution, in which Fidel will be silenced and Raul Castro will do Che Guevara's bidding. The skinny cynic was busy in the back office with two girls. So we left.

The Muddy Messiah has taken our sugar, our oil, lied about us, degraded our people, brought Anastas Mikoyan to a position of power within 90 miles of Florida, sowed disunity among our Latin American friends, and made us look like boobs.

You're Telling Me!

According to a New York expert on such matters a fellow's hair grows faster during the daytime than at night. He may be right—but just try to convince the boss it should be cut on office time because it grew fastest then!

Grandpappy Jenkins says you're a real old-timer if you can remember when a candidate for a presidential nomination admitted he'd accept the Vice Presidency.

On reading that the U.S. has some seven million carats of industrial diamonds stockpiled, C.J.T. postcards that it's no wonder Uncle Sam manages to carry on his business on a cash-and-carat basis.

Times were tougher in the old days for Presidential candidates. Among other things, they had to worry how they photographed wearing an Indian war bonnet.

New Ringworm Pill Also Helps Gout Patients

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The new anti-ringworm pill (griseofulvin) has settled down as an excellent remedy for fungal infections of the skin, scalp, and fingernails. It is of little value in ringworm of the toes, deeper tissues, or lungs. But, as with other new drugs, griseofulvin has been found helpful in conditions unrelated to those for which it was intended.

A group of Miami physicians report that it alleviates the pain of gout within 12 to 14 hours. Another group of physicians, from Philadelphia, report that griseofulvin is of value in the shoulder-hand syndrome. This stubborn disorder, a complication of various conditions including stroke and heart attacks, seldom yields to treatment of any kind.

Most victims of this syndrome develop pain, tenderness, and stiffness of the shoulder with aching, tingling, weakness, and swelling of the hand and fingers on the involved side. The cause is not known except that the nerves and/or blood vessels are involved.

Griseofulvin brought dramatic improvement in 12 patients. The Pennsylvania physicians were unable to offer a reason why it works except that the product has some anti-inflammatory activity.

The drug is valuable in ringworm of the fingernails but it must be taken for several months before the nails get back to normal. I recall an insurance executive whose nails looked like a worm eaten piece of driftwood. The nail infection was a source of great embarrassment when he was younger and had to make contacts with potential customers. They hesitated to shake hands because they were afraid the condition was contagious. The man consulted numerous specialists and had every known treatment. Since he started taking griseofulvin a few months ago, his nails have improved 90 per cent.

Ringworm of the feet does not respond to this product but this is not too regrettable because many good remedies are available for this disorder.

PICKLE JUICE DRINKER

P. G. writes: I love to drink dil pickle juice but my wife thinks I'm harming my digestive tract through this habit. Do you think I am?

REPLY

Ask your stomach. It is the best judge as to what the juice is doing to it. There is no need to worry if your digestive tract is not rebelling.

CANCER OF THE LUNG

H. J. G. writes: How is lung cancer detected?

REPLY

The initial indication comes from the chest X-ray. Definite proof is obtained by searching the sputum for cancer cells, removing certain neck glands, or obtaining a biopsy of the tumor with a special tube—the bronchoscope.

SALT AND PRESSURE

A. M. writes: Why is the salt intake curtailed in high blood pressure?

REPLY

Because the sodium in salt aggravates the elevated blood pressure. It has no effect on a normal pressure nor does it cause hypertension.

MORE BLOOD FOR BRAIN

J. W. writes: What can be done for anemia of the brain?

REPLY

Medicines are available to improve the circulation of the brain and to increase the force of the heart so that it pumps more blood to our gray matter.

DEAD BONE

J. B. writes: what could cause necrosis of the left hip bone?

REPLY

Necrosis means death of tissue. Fracture of a hip bone may be followed by necrosis when the blood supply to the broken-off piece also is disturbed.

TOMORROW: Items from the medical literature.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

A Houston stock broker with a sense of humor offers these explanations of a few terms often found in current market letters:

"The stock, while suitable for long term investors, may be considered to have reached its immediate objective" means, "The underwriting syndicates won't let us have any more shares."

"Management is young and aggressive" means "Sales are under five million dollars." "Management is sober and mature" means "Sales are leveling off."

"This stock has long been one of our favorites" means "We recommended it two years ago. It hasn't gone down too much and we still play golf with the management."

"Chart action shows the stock to be building a base" means

Dawson Pitches No-Hit, No-Hit Game For Mt. Savage

Bobby Dawson pitched a no-hit, no-run contest yesterday as Manager Ronnie Sisk's Mt. Savage Old Germans blanked the Flintstone Farmers at Mt. Savage by the score of 12-0 and clung to fourth place in the Pen-Mar Baseball League by the margin of a half game over Moorefield.

In posting his seventh victory against two losses, Dawson tossed the first no-hit, no-run game of his career, faced only 31 batters, fired the third strike past 16 batters, issued three walks and hit two batters with pitched balls.

The win gave Mt. Savage a 13-1 record for the season with four games left to play. The loss was the 14th straight for the tail-end Farmers who have won only two of 24 games this season.

Flintstone was charged with ten fielding miscues. Russ Jones went the route for the Farmers, fanned nine and issued nine bases on balls. He is 0-9 for the season.

In the 9th inning, Jim Fletcher walked and advanced to third on an error, but perished there when Dawson struck out Lou Fabbri and Jim Norris to end the game.

Carl Donald obtained two of Mt. Savage's seven hits—a double and single. Steve Faulkner and Ronnie Neubauer slammed triples.

Barrelville increased its lead to two games over Hyndman in the pennant race by downing the Reds in a 13-11 slugfest at Centerville while the Moorefield All-Stars were downing the Merchants by the score of 4-3 to square their season series with the Pennsylvanians at two-all.

Barrelville emerged the winner of the wild game at Centerville to take the season series with the Bedford counties, three games to one.

Team Racks Up 31 Hits

Thirty-one hits were chalked up in the contest—18 for the winners and 13 for the Reds.

Bobby Raines, who was relieved by Dave Richards in the 7th frame, received credit for the win, his fourth against a single loss. Glenn Deremer, who followed by Reed and Growden on the rubber, took the loss, his seventh of the campaign against nine victories.

Galen McGregor was the "big gun" for Barrelville with four hits in six official trips, including a triple and two-bagger. "Pooch" Lewis, George Miller, Leroy Morris, Bobby Munden and Raines collected two bluffs each and Dorci Kline slammed a homer for Manager "Buck" Fiorita's league leaders. Munden homered and tripled, Raines doubled and tripled and one of Morris' belts was a three-bagger. Mel Nee and Dwight Rose garnered three safeties each, while Dave Rose, Jim Zembower and Mervyn Rose each hit safely twice for Centerville. Dave Rose socked a homer and Dwight and Mervyn Rose each smashed a triple and double.

Barrelville scored seven of its 13 runs in the 7th frame.

The last three innings of this game were played in a downpour of rain.

Keller's Hit Decides

A two-run rally in the last of the 9th enabled Moorefield to come from behind and defeat Hyndman.

Don Smith and Gus Smith singled and Will Newhouse loaded the bases with the throw on his hunt was too late to nip Don Smith at third. George Hott fled to left but Don Smith was cut down on a perfect throw to the plate. After Harlan Hott walked to load the bases again, Bob Keller's hit to centerfield, his third safety of the game, to send over the tying and winning runs.

Each team scored one run in the third but Hyndman took a 3-1 lead in the 8th when Morgart was safe on an error, J. Lowery tripled and Lehman singled. A hit batsman followed by singles by Keller and Paul Raines produced the Moorefield tally in the eighth.

Harold Mongold went all the way for Moorefield, fanned six, walked three and made his season record 4-4. Vohn Lehman absorbed his third defeat against six wins. He whiffed four, issued two passes and hit two batters. "Pete" Deremer, Lehman, F. Bagley and D. Lowery shared eight of Hyndman's 12 bluffs. Hite and J. Lowery blasted triples and Morgart, Bryant, F. Bagley and D. Lowery rapped two-baggers.

Keller obtained three of Moorefield's eight bingles and Paul Raines garnered a double and single.

A sensational grab by Will Newhouse of a long drive from the bat of D. Lowery in left-center was the game's fielding gem.

Cubs, Giar's Split Even

Both Games Are 5-3, Banks Belts No. 35

CHICAGO (AP) — Andre Rodgers' three-run homer for San Francisco helped Georges Maranda make his first major league start a success with a 5-3 victory Sunday after the Chicago Cubs had defeated the Giants 3-1 in the first game of a doubleheader.

Rodgers' homer—his first this year—came in the sixth inning with two out after the Cubs had intentionally walked Catcher Hobie Iandrih. The blow snapped a 2-2 tie and gave the Giants a split in the four-game series.

A crowd of 29,862 had visions of a double Cubs victory when Ernie Banks slammed his 35th homer with a man on in the fourth inning.

The Giants, however, tied it in the fifth on a pair of walks, a pinch single by Willie McCovey and a single by Don Blasingame.

Maranda, who has been used only as a reliever, evened his record at 1-1.

Catcher Moe Thacker and second baseman Don Zimmer provided the heroics for the Cubs in the opener. Thacker threw out three would-be base stealers and cracked a tie-breaking single in the sixth inning. Thacker and Zimmer put on a double steal in the same inning, with Zimmer stealing home for the second run of the inning and a 4-2 lead.

18 Clubs May Play, 5 Teams Withdraw

Donald Bennett, of the Fort Ash by V.F.W., is the new president of the Allegheny County Men's Shuffleboard League which plans to open its 14th season September 15 with at least 18 teams.

Bill Laurent of the Purple Heart Club is the vice president and Paul Sticher of the Cumberland K of C, is secretary-treasurer for the ninth year.

Walter Oglebay, Cumberland Outdoor Club; Olin Duckworth, Purple Heart Club; and Roy Merritt, Goodfellowship Club, have been elected to the board of directors.

Five teams have dropped out of the league since last season and three have been added. Switzer's, Golden Nugget, American Legion and Republican Club have joined the new Frostburg league while Southern Bar was the other club to drop out. Newcomers are the Cumberland Redmen, Corriganville Firenca, Cumberland V.F.W. Twenty teams were in the loop for the 1959-60 season.

A meeting of all teams will be held Thursday, August 25 at 8:30 p.m., at the Purple Heart Club. This will be the deadline date for all teams seeking berths in the circuit.

Close Succeeds Glenn Smith As Paw Paw Coach

Glenn Smith has resigned his position as basketball and baseball coach at Paw Paw High School to become mentor of the same sports at Williamsport High School in Washington county, Md.

His successor at Paw Paw High School is Lewis Close, former four-sports athlete at Berkeley Springs High School.

Glenn Smith is a son of Evers Smith, one-time Piedmont High and Westvaco A.A. cage star. Glenn also starred at Piedmont High under Coach William "Huck" Miers and was graduated from the University of Maryland.

During his two years his basketball teams at Paw Paw have won 36 games and lost 13. His baseball teams had a 7-9 record.

Close, who was captain of the Shepherd College Rams' quint last season, will be graduated from the Shepherdstown school this week at Berkeley Springs grad of 1955. Close participated in basketball, baseball and track. He is married and will teach biology and other science courses.

Tigers Whip Tribe Twice

Cleveland Drops Into 5th Place

Detroit (AP) — The Detroit Tigers ran their winning streak to six Sunday with a pair of 6-4 triumphs that gave them a series sweep over the Cleveland Indians.

A Briggs Stadium crowd of 28,891 watched the sixth-place Tigers, deal the Indians their sixth straight doubleheader defeat.

Eddie Yost broke up the tense nightcap with a two-run single in the eighth inning after the two clubs were deadlocked at 4-4 since the fifth inning. Yost's game-winning hit, a solid smash to left field off Johnny Knapstein scored Frank Boling and Neil Chrissy, who opened with singles and advanced on a bunt.

Charlie Maxwell knocked home all the other Detroit runs with a single, a double and a two-run home run, his 19th.

The Indians, dropping into fifth place behind Washington, stranded 15 runners. Twice, they had a runner at third with none out and failed to score, and in the last four innings, put 9 runners on base without getting one home.

Candidates Cite Views About Liquor

Barron, Neely Do Not Agree

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The controversial question of liquor-by-the-drink in West Virginia drew week end comments from the state's two gubernatorial nominees in the Nov. 8 general election.

Democrat W. W. Barron said he had decided not to take a stand, one way or the other, on the question. He also said his neutral position on the question would continue if he is elected governor.

Barron said he thought his position was consistent with the Democratic state platform. Before approving the platform recently, Democratic Convention delegates rejected a proposed endorsement of a referendum on liquor-by-the-drink.

Meanwhile, GOP gubernatorial nominee Harold Neely took a somewhat different view, saying he was personally opposed to over-the-bar sale of liquor, but favors a referendum on the question.

"If it ever comes to a referendum, I would vote no, but I would not campaign in either way," Neely said. While he would vote "no" on the single question of legalizing liquor, Neely said he would vote "yes" if a provision for local option were included.

But, he added, if the local option question later came up for a vote in Summers County, his home county, Neely said he would vote "no."

State Workshop Opens On Frostburg Campus

FROSTBURG—Over 200 members of high school and junior high school student councils registered yesterday at Frostburg State Teachers College for the Student Council Leadership Conference Workshop on the campus.

Felix Simon, guidance counselor at Parkville Senior High School, Baltimore, will be the director. He is being assisted by Robert Eckert, executive secretary of MASC, Cambridge Senior High School; William Babylon, director of activities, Clear Spring High School; Donald Maxwell, coordinator of junior high schools, Stemmers Run Junior High, and Miss Lucille Kennedy, nurse at Washington General Hospital.

The weeklong affair is being sponsored by the Maryland Association of Student Councils and the Maryland Secondary School Principals Association. This is the fifth annual summer conference and the second to be held here.

List Objectives

Objectives of the conference are to foster and develop leadership training through democratic processes; to further the growth of local student councils by emphasizing the significance of leadership techniques, problem solving, projects, personnel, objectives and organization; to provide resource materials and information and to broaden the scope and extend the growth of the Maryland Association of Student Councils.

Delegates will be assigned to one of five groups known as councils. A council usually has between 30 and 40 boys and girls. Characteristics considered in the formation of councils are: Leadership (offices held), athletic ability, talent, writing ability, location and size of school. Two staff leaders are responsible for the organization, functioning and participation of the individual council. Recreational activities will include talent night, campfire and songfest, softball and volleyball. Competition is organized on a council basis.

Each council will attend three discussion periods daily, two in the morning and one in the afternoon. The latter half of the afternoon is given over to planned recreation and other activities. Discussion periods will cover such subjects as resource materials, effective functioning of Student Council personnel, projects, problems and conducting a meeting.

Ends Friday
Topics for the project were selected by the staff and delegates attending the fourth MASC leadership workshop last year at FSTC. Adequate provision is established for the health and safety of each delegate. A registered nurse will be on duty at all times as a member of the conference staff. A physician will be on call.

The conference will end Friday with a picnic supper at Pleasant Valley. Students will leave the campus Saturday after a brief assembly ending at 11 a.m.

Assisting Simon with arrangements on the local campus are John Allison, advisor to men at the college, and Walter Capel, chief engineer.

Highway, Tariff Legislation Is Advocated

Senator Randolph Cites Importance

PT. PLEASANT, W. Va. (UPI)—Sen. Jennings Randolph (D, W. Va.) said Sunday that two pieces of legislation of interest to West Virginia will be high on the list of congressional business when the lawmakers reconvene in Washington next January.

Addressing the fifth annual outing of the Mountain Lodge of West Virginia, Inc., Randolph said the two measures will deal with highways and amendments to the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act.

The senator said he had no doubt that early in the session, the 87th Congress will look into the legislative needs of the federal-aid highway program.

Randolph said that what Congress does with tariffs, import quotas and international trade policy under the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act will be important to West Virginia.

He said mine mechanization and extensive automation in other industries have increased unemployment in West Virginia. However, he said, competition from cheaply-produced foreign imports also must be classed as "another major cause of unemployment" in West Virginia and other states.

Lonaconing Personals

Mrs. Shirley R. Tyndall of Louisville, Ky., visited at the home of her mother, Mrs. Mary B. Reidler, and brother, Robert, 51 High Street, for the past week.

G. L. Buchanan Dies After Fall

Tumbles Off Cliff Into River

George L. Buchanan, 67, of The Dingle, president of the Buchanan Lumber Company and a director of the Liberty Trust Company, died yesterday in Memorial Hospital of injuries sustained in a fall at his camp on the South Branch of the Potomac River about five miles south of Romney.

GEORGE L. BUCHANAN

Death was attributed to a fractured skull. Mr. Buchanan, who was staying at his camp over the weekend, was exercising his bird dogs about 9 a.m. yesterday when he lost his footing on a steep embankment and fell into the river.

Mr. Buchanan, wearing rubber-soled shoes, slid on the dewy moss and pine needles for about 30 feet and then plunged over a small cliff about 25 feet into the water, which was less than a foot deep where he fell.

Boy, Fisherman Help
His step-grandson, Lee Helmer, 12, was with him at the time. The lad assisted Mr. Buchanan and got aid from a nearby fisherman, who helped put the injured man into a boat and took him to a landing.

The accident occurred about 100 yards from Mr. Buchanan's cottage. He was brought to the local hospital by ambulance and died about 12:40 p.m.

Active in community affairs, Mr. Buchanan was a former president of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce and was a past chairman of the Community Chest Drive and a former vice president of the Cumberland Country Club.

He was a member of the Scottish Rite, All Ghan Shrine Club, Jesters, the Kiwanis Club, and was a member of First Presbyterian Church. He was a graduate of Allegheny High School.

An avid sports fan, Mr. Buchanan was active as a hunter, fisherman and trapshooter, and was interested in conservation work.

Girl, 15, Hurt As Car Hits Utility Pole

A 15-year-old Bedford Road girl was admitted to Memorial Hospital yesterday with injuries sustained when she was thrown from an auto which hit a utility pole on U. S. Route 220 about a half mile north of Cumberland.

Nancy Louise Beck suffered a fractured right leg, abrasions of her body and a laceration on the chin. She was admitted to the hospital about 6:10 p.m.

Uninjured in the accident was Eugene Clifford Ross, 16, of 210 Milton Place, city, driver of the car which was traveling north toward Cumberland.

State Police said the driver attempted to accelerate the vehicle and it went into a spin on the wet highway, hit a utility pole and ended up on the west side of the roadway.

The girl was thrown from the vehicle and was later taken to the local hospital in an ambulance. Police, who said the accident occurred about 5:40 p.m., reported that the probable cause was speed too great for existing road conditions.

Tfc. Jack F. Browning investigated the accident.

School Insurance Plan Renewed Another Year

The Allegheny County Board of Education is renewing its scholastic accident insurance program for the year starting October 1 with the Pilot Life Insurance Company of Greensboro, N. C.

A total of 9,051 students, teachers, clerks and secretaries were enrolled in this program last year, according to Arthur G. Ramey, supervisor of transportation. This is about 56.6 per cent of those eligible.

For a standard fee of $1.75, the holders of this insurance are covered if an accident should occur while they are going to and from school as well as while at school. The program has been in effect seven years.

Equity Suits Filed

Three new equity suits have been filed in Allegheny County Circuit Court. The bills of complaint were titled Louise K. Rice vs. James C. Rice, Donna Jean Grindberg vs. Paul J. Grindberg and Juanita G. Gray vs. George T. Gray.

4 Escape Injury In Plane Crash Near Bedford

An Albuquerque, N.M. family of four, en route home from Philadelphia, Pa., escaped serious injury yesterday when a private plane in which they were traveling made a forced landing and crashed north of the Bedford Interchange of the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

Herbert Swing, 34; his wife, Joan, 29, and their four-year-old children, Sandy and Michael, were not injured. The plane was damaged to the extent of about $5,000.

The family had attended a wedding of Mr. Swing's sister in Philadelphia and were on their way home when they ran into bad weather over the John Weidman airstrip in the vicinity of Turnpike City.

The Mooney Mark 20 craft overshot the runway about 100 feet and crashed at 4:35 p.m. (EDT). The family stayed at a motel overnight and Mr. Swing plans to get his plane repaired for the trip home.

Pilots Schedule 'Fly-In' Here September 18

The Cumberland Flying Association at a recent meeting made plans for a "breakfast fly-in" Sunday, September 18 at the local airport.

G. Wyatt Brenaman is chairman of advertising, and bulletins will be sent to airports throughout the area inviting pilots to take part in the event. Lorimer Twigg is chairman of the food committee.

The fly-in will be held from 8 a.m. till noon, and prizes will be awarded to the first plane in, the pilot and plane coming the greatest distance, and the oldest and youngest pilots who participate. The rain date for the event is Sunday, September 25.

The association also made plans for its second annual pilots' dinner which will be held Saturday, October 29, at the Cumberland Country Club.

Dr. Robert K. Poling and Mr. Brenaman are chairman for the event which is expected to attract pilots and persons interested in flying from throughout this section.

Members of the ticket committee are Mrs. Isabelle Dawson, Mrs. Eloise Nash and Mrs. Robert K. Poling.

The meeting also included a special commendation by Dr. Poling to all members of the association who helped make the recent flight a success.

John Nash, manager of the local airport, discussed regulations concerning flying operations at the airport and announced new charts regarding the airport are being prepared.

The meeting concluded with the showing of several films which were provided by the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company and made available by William C. Holbrook, a member of the local flying association.

Keyser Man, Injured In Crash, Dies

John D. Sears, 74, May Have Suffered Heart Attack

A 74-year-old Keyser, W. Va. man who was injured in a two-car accident Saturday night about a mile south of that community on U. S. Route 220, died early yesterday morning in Potomac Valley Hospital.

Authorities said John David Sears, 415 Ward Avenue, apparently died of a heart attack brought on by the excitement of the accident, in which he sustained a fractured right leg and possible chest injuries.

Neither driver was hurt, although four other persons in the cars were injured and taken to the hospital.

Ruth Sears, 48, wife of William R. Sears, 51, of Front Royal, Va., driver of one of the cars, had some teeth knocked loose and suffered lacerations and abrasions of her face. She was treated at the hospital.

Also injured were Lynwood Sharpless, 25, of Elk Garden, riding in a car driven by Carl W. Dawson, 48, of Elk Garden. He suffered a laceration of his forehead and was treated.

His wife, Mrs. Janice Sharpless, 22, who complained of back injuries, was admitted to the hospital and discharged yesterday.

The couple's son, Lynwood Jr., 3½, suffered a laceration of his right arm and received treatment.

Crash Occurs At Junction
West Virginia State Police, who are continuing an investigation, said the accident occurred about 8:50 p.m. a mile south of Keyser at the junction of the new and old sections of Route 220.

Dawson was traveling south on the old section. Police said he either failed to stop at a stop sign or failed to yield the right of way to Sears, who was traveling north on the new section of highway.

The Dawson vehicle pulled into the lane and the right sides of each car crashed, spinning the Dawson car around. The other car traveled about 100 feet northward and went over an embankment on the left side of the highway.

Trooper Robert Noechel investigated the accident and was assisted by Cpl. F. W. Armstrong, who directed traffic.

Mr. Sears was born at Burlington, a son of the late Harm and Margaret (Fleek) Sears. He was a retired farmer and was a member of Beaver Run Church of the Brethren.

Funeral Wednesday
He is survived by his widow, Lila (Lewis) Sears; three daughters, Mrs. Alice Souders, Riverdale, Md.; Mrs. Blanche Yoke, Winchester, Va.; and Mrs. Pauline Mongold, Fincastle, Va.; three sons, Raymond D., Front Royal, Va.; Paul, Romney, and John Jr., Winchester; a step-son, (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

REV. W. R. SNYDER

Pastor Snyder Accepts Call To Minneapolis

Rev. William R. Snyder, pastor of St. Luke's Lutheran Church here since January 1, 1955, announced to his congregation yesterday morning that he is resigning his pastorate here to accept a call to become pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church, Washburn Park, Minneapolis, Minn.

Pastor Snyder plans to leave about November 8 to become pastor of the 77-year-old Minneapolis church which is recognized as the mother church of the Northwest Synod of the United Lutheran Church in America.

The church has a membership of about 2,700. His staff will include two associate pastors, a minister of visitation, a church administrator, director of youth work and two full time secretaries.

St. John's Church is recognized as the first Lutheran Church west of the Mississippi River to use the English language.

New Church Here

The Lutheran clergyman's pastorate here was highlighted by the construction of a new $550,000 church in the 1600 block of Frederick Street. This new church, of contemporary architecture, was dedicated May 1 and 70 per cent of its cost has been paid. When he came here, St. Luke's Church was located on Columbia Street near its intersection with Bedford Street.

During Pastor Snyder's nearly six years here, St. Luke's has experienced increased membership, attendance and giving. Some 703 new baptized members have been received, bringing the baptized membership to 1,058. That is a net gain of about 350. Attendance has increased 400 per cent since he came here and the annual offering today is 600 per cent above the level of January 1, 1955.

In Minneapolis, Pastor Snyder will succeed Rev. Dr. John W. Rilling, who has resigned after 15 years to become professor of practical theology at the Hanna Divinity School of Wittenberg University, Springfield, Ohio.

Native Of York

A 32-year-old native of York, Pa., the resigning pastor here was graduated from Gettysburg (Pa.) College in 1950, did one year of graduate work at the University of Pennsylvania and was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Woman Dies In Two-Car Accident

Betty Jo Cordell, 21, RD 2, Everett, Thrown From Auto

Betty Jo Cordell, 21, of RD 2, Everett, Pa., a student at Penn State University, died early yesterday morning of injuries sustained in a two-car accident Saturday evening about five miles north of Bedford on Route 26.

Injured in the accident were William W. Wigfield, 32, driver of one of the cars, his wife, Stella, 28, and their son, James, two.

They were treated at Bedford Memorial Hospital where Miss Cordell died about 12:35 a.m. (EDT) yesterday.

Pennsylvania State Police, who are continuing an investigation, said the victim suffered a fractured skull, fractured right leg, multiple abrasions and internal injuries.

Members of the Wigfield family suffered lacerations, they said.

Both Cars Demolished

The accident occurred at 7:55 p.m. and both cars were demolished. Miss Cordell was traveling south on the highway.

Another car operated by Gerald Becker of RD 1, Saxton, Pa., passed the car driven by Miss Cordell, and according to police, he apparently cut short back into the line of traffic.

Police surmise that when Becker cut short his return into the lane, Miss Cordell turned to the right and hit the berm of the highway.

After the car went out of control it went back onto the highway into the path of the car driven north by Wigfield and plummeted onto the east berm and down over an embankment.

The car turned over a couple of times and Miss Cordell was thrown clear of the auto, which ended up in a field.

Miss Cordell, who would have been a senior at the university this fall, was driving alone at the time of the accident.

Funeral Tomorrow

A native of West Providence Township she was born on June 16, 1939 and was a daughter of Charles L. and Evelyn (Sipes) Cordell.

Besides her parents, she is survived by a sister, Mrs. David Dunkle Jr. of RD 1, Everett; a brother, James Ray, at home, and her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Sue Sipes of RD 2, Everett.

The body is at the Stewart Funeral Home in Everett where friends will be received after 2:30 p.m. today. A service will be conducted at the funeral home tomorrow at 2 p.m.

Rev. Ritchie Ball will officiate and interment will be in the Everett Cemetery.

275 Attend Reunion

Some 275 persons attended the annual Imes family reunion which was held recently near Chaneyville, Pa.

Pinto Man Dies In Blazing Home

Frank Smith, 68, Found By Firemen

A 68-year-old retired railroad worker, who resided on Niner's Lane in Pinto, burned to death yesterday evening while sitting in a chair in the front room of his four-room bungalow.

Frank Smith, who lived alone, was burned beyond recognition, according to Fire Chief Louis Winter of the Cresapton Volunteer Fire Company, which quenched the blaze.

They received a call about 6:40 p.m. and the man's charred body was found on the floor of the front room. About all that was left of the chair was a couple of springs.

Foul Play Ruled Out

Chief Winter said the fire burned the flooring under the chair and about three floor joists which dropped into the basement of the home.

The deputy county medical examiner's office ruled out foul play and attributed death to asphyxiation and burns.

The fire apparently started from a burning cigarette Mr. Smith had been smoking while sitting in the chair.

About 24 volunteers answered the call and traveled two miles to the blaze, which was confined to the front room.

Last Seen At 4 p.m.

Chief Winters said the house was ready to go up in flames by the time they arrived on the scene with two pumps and the company's ambulance.

The man was last seen about 4 p.m. when he got out of a taxi at his four-room house. His wife died earlier this year and Mr. Smith had been living alone.

The fire was first noticed by Richard Niner, about 25, a neighbor who went to the home of a Mrs. Marker who called the volunteers.

The body was taken to the Hafer Funeral Home.

Gravel Removal Slated When Jig Arrives

Gravel which has collected in Wills Creek and the Potomac River will be removed when the Cumberland Cement and Supply Company received cleaning equipment it has ordered.

City Engineer C. R. Nuzum, who is also superintendent of the flood control project, said the company advises it has ordered the jig which will be used to remove foreign matter, including metals, glass and wood from the gravel and sand deposits.

Use of the equipment, he said, will allow the firm to use the deposits for building materials.

The Corps of Engineers several weeks ago authorized the local firm to remove the deposits which build up in the streams when the velocity of the water drops.

The biggest deposits are at the B & O Viaduct, the Western Maryland bridge across Wills Creek and below the Industrial Dam in the river.

The firm will probably use pay-loaders and big dump trucks to haul the deposits from Wills Creek and over a haul road which has been built on the Ridgeley side of the river opposite the Western Maryland river bridge.

Draglines will be used to scoop the deposits out of the river. Early this year, the firm scooped up over 1,400 tons of sand and gravel from Wills Creek.

Mt. Storm Man Injured In Collision

Donald Wayne Clark, 31, of Mt. Storm, W. Va., yesterday evening was admitted to Grant County Hospital in Petersburg with injuries sustained in a two-car crash on U.S. Route 50 about a mile and a half east of Mt. Storm.

Attaches, who said he was admitted for observation at 6 p.m., reported the man was in good condition.

State Police said Clark was driving a car uphill in a westerly direction on the highway about 5 p.m.

Another car driven east on the highway by Wieland R. Almon, about 18, of Crestwood, Ky., was traveling down grade. Almon apparently lost control of his vehicle on a gradual left curve.

The car ran off the wet pavement onto the south berm and knocked over a curve marker. It careened back across the highway and hit the front end of the Clark auto, which ended up on the north berm.

Trooper Robert Noechel is continuing an investigation. He said the accident occurred about two tenths of a mile west of Abrams Creek Bridge.

Roof Of Shanty Burned By Fire

West Side firemen were called yesterday afternoon when the roof of a shanty on a vacant lot in that section of the city caught fire.

The roof of the shanty, built by youngsters, was burned in the blaze at 12:28 p.m. The shanty was located in the vicinity of Fairmont and Locust streets.

M. O. Simpson To Be Ordained Next Sunday

Marvin O. Simpson, 31, who has accepted a call to become pastor of First English Baptist Church in Frostburg, will be ordained next Sunday at 8 p.m. at Second Baptist Church in South Cumberland.

Mr. Simpson, who formerly resided on Baltimore Pike, has been serving as interim pastor of the Frostburg church since June.

An ordination council was held August 6 at Second Baptist Church, where Mr. Simpson is a former member, and he was approved for ordination by seven area Baptist ministers and 14 deacons and laymen.

Ministers who attended the council were Rev. Archie McIntyre, pastor of Second Baptist Church; Rev. W. Randolph Keefe Jr., pastor of Grace Baptist Church; Rev. J. C. Lanning, pastor of LaVale Baptist Church; Rev. Henry Laube, pastor of Westernport Baptist Church; Rev. Dallas C. Bivins, area missionary; Rev. William Miles, Bedford, Pa., and Rev. Luman Evans, pastor of Bedford Road Baptist Church.

Rev. Roy D. Gresham, general secretary, and Allen J. Beck, secretary of the Brotherhood of the Maryland Baptist Union Association, Baltimore; and Rev. Cornelius B. Davis, Live Oaks, Fla., former pastor of Second Baptist Church, will participate in the ordination service Sunday.

Following the ordination, a reception will be held at the church under the direction of Mrs. B. W. Robinson, chairman.

While a member of Second Baptist, Mr. Simpson held various church positions. These include Sunday school superintendent, chairman of the pulpit committee, chairman of the deacons, member of the choir and a teacher in the young men's Bible class.

Mr. Simpson also has filled vacancies at local and area Baptist churches in the absence of the regular pastors.

He attended schools in Pennsylvania, and also attended Frostburg State Teachers College. Mr. Simpson plans to continue his education at Frostburg this fall.

Mr. Simpson, who has been sales manager at the Queen City Dairy since 1955, plans to resign his position. He had been employed at the local dairy since 1951.

He is married to the former Ruth Ella Rice and has four sons. Mr. Simpson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew M. Simpson, Bedford Road.

Sheriff Notified Missing Plane May Be In Area

Allegheny County Sheriff Paul C. Haberlein last night received a telegram stating that a private plane carrying a prominent Oklahoma attorney and his family may have crashed in this area.

Henry S. Griffing, his wife, son and daughter left Teberboro, N.J., on the morning of August 16 and have not been heard from since, the telegram stated.

Sheriff Haberlein said the Cessna Type 180 has black and red markings with a number of 8914T. A reward of $5,000 is being offered for any information leading to the plane's whereabouts, the sheriff added.

The telegram was signed by V. P. Crowe, president of the Oklahoma Bar Association and Bruce McClelland, president of the Oklahoma County Bar Association.

The plane was en route to Oklahoma City.

Sewerage Needs Of County Cited In Report

The State Health Department yesterday released estimated costs of community sewerage improvements needed in Maryland in the next 10 to 20 years and they show Allegheny's total need costing $3,600,000 and Garrett County's $1,850,000.

Dr. Perry F. Prather, state health director, explained that these estimates were prepared by the Bureau of Environmental Hygiene in answer to a request from the director of the State Fiscal Research Bureau. The Legislative Council's committee on taxation and fiscal matters is surveying the financial needs of local governments and the overall fiscal relationship between the state and its subdivisions.

The grand total estimated cost for 22 Maryland counties and Baltimore city is $120,300,000. Of this total, $27,450,000 is needed within the next five years, $41,000,000 in five-to-10 years and the other $51,850,000 is needed later than 10 years. St. Mary's County is not included.

10 County Communities

The Allegheny County communities are listed in the report for sewerage needs and three of them—Frostburg, LaVale and Cresaptown—are needed in the next five years.

Frostburg's need for a treatment plant is estimated at $1,000,000. LaVale is down for $500,000 for sewers and treatment plant and Cresaptown for $400,000 for sewers and treatment plant.

Two other communities, Lonaconing and Mt. Savage, are in the five-to-10 year need group. Lonaconing's estimate is $400,000 for a treatment plant while Mt. Savage's cost is listed at $350,000 for sewers and treatment plant.

Allegheny County's other five listed communities are in the group where the need is considered 10 to 20 years away. Barton and Midland, in this group, are estimated at $250,000 for treatment plants. Corriagville, Ellerslie and Flintstone are down for $150,000 each for sewers and treatment plants.

Seven In Garrett

Seven Garrett County communities are listed in the report. The three with the most immediate need, in the next five years, are Oakland, $400,000 for treatment plant, Loch Lynn-Mt. Lake Park, $300,000 for treatment plant and Accident, $150,000 for sewers and treatment plant.

Deer Park is the only Garrett County community in the five-to-10-year group. It is listed for $200,000 for sewers and treatment plant. The other three Garrett County towns cited, are in the 10-to-20-year need group. Friendsville and Kitzmiller are down for $300,000 each for sewers and treatment plants, and Bloomington is listed for $200,000 for sewers and treatment plant.

Washington County's need, according to the report, adds up to $3,800,000. Included is $350,000 for Hancock for a treatment plant within five to 10 years.

To Hold Reunion

The first reunion of the Mallow families will be held Sunday, September 11, at Mouth of Seneca, W. Va.
